TURNER-DIXON HOME
Hayneville Road, one mile from Lowndesboro, Lowndes County, Alabama.

ARCHITECTURAL DESCRIPTION:

Aside from its historic interest the Turner-Dixon^{CKS} house was selected for photographing because it is the most pretentious old home in Lowndesboro.

The building has a two-storey Greek Doric porch on two adjoining sides. The entablature carries curlicue brackets, a pair emphasizing the space over each column. The architecture of the plantation house shows Mississippi influence.
